The healing benefits of sea salt on your skin after a dip in the ocean are like no other. So why not enjoy them year-round? Employing a salt facial device that uses macro LED rejuvenation, Awaken Aesthetics detoxifies the skin with organic sea salt, replenishes the surface with aesthetic ultrasound, and rejuvenates and improves circulation while stimulating collagen production with LED phototherapy. “Salt is a natural humectant that draws and locks in moisture at the cellular level,” says founder Ellen Lauletta. “It’s naturally antibacterial, antimicrobial and anti-inflammatory, which makes it extremely versatile to treat many different types of skin conditions.” The results? Glowing and healthy skin.

Whether you’re training for a triathlon or frequenting a Pilates studio, reoxygenation and toxin elimination are key for healing. Firm the skin while reducing muscle tension and soreness with Away Spa’s 50-minute Sculpt Body Treatment. While a Brazilian yellow clay body mask restores nutrients, along with plankton extract to stimulate your metabolism, the Tui Na massage technique reduces the appearance of cellulite. “This kneading, rolling and lifting technique [Tui Na massage] helps activate the mask, allows for greater product penetration and brings balance to the body,” explains Away

Spa esthetician Katie Scheidt. Before leaving refreshed, a water-balancing massage oil is used to improve microcirculation and reduce swelling.
